Maryland Inventory of Historic Properties # WA-HAG-171

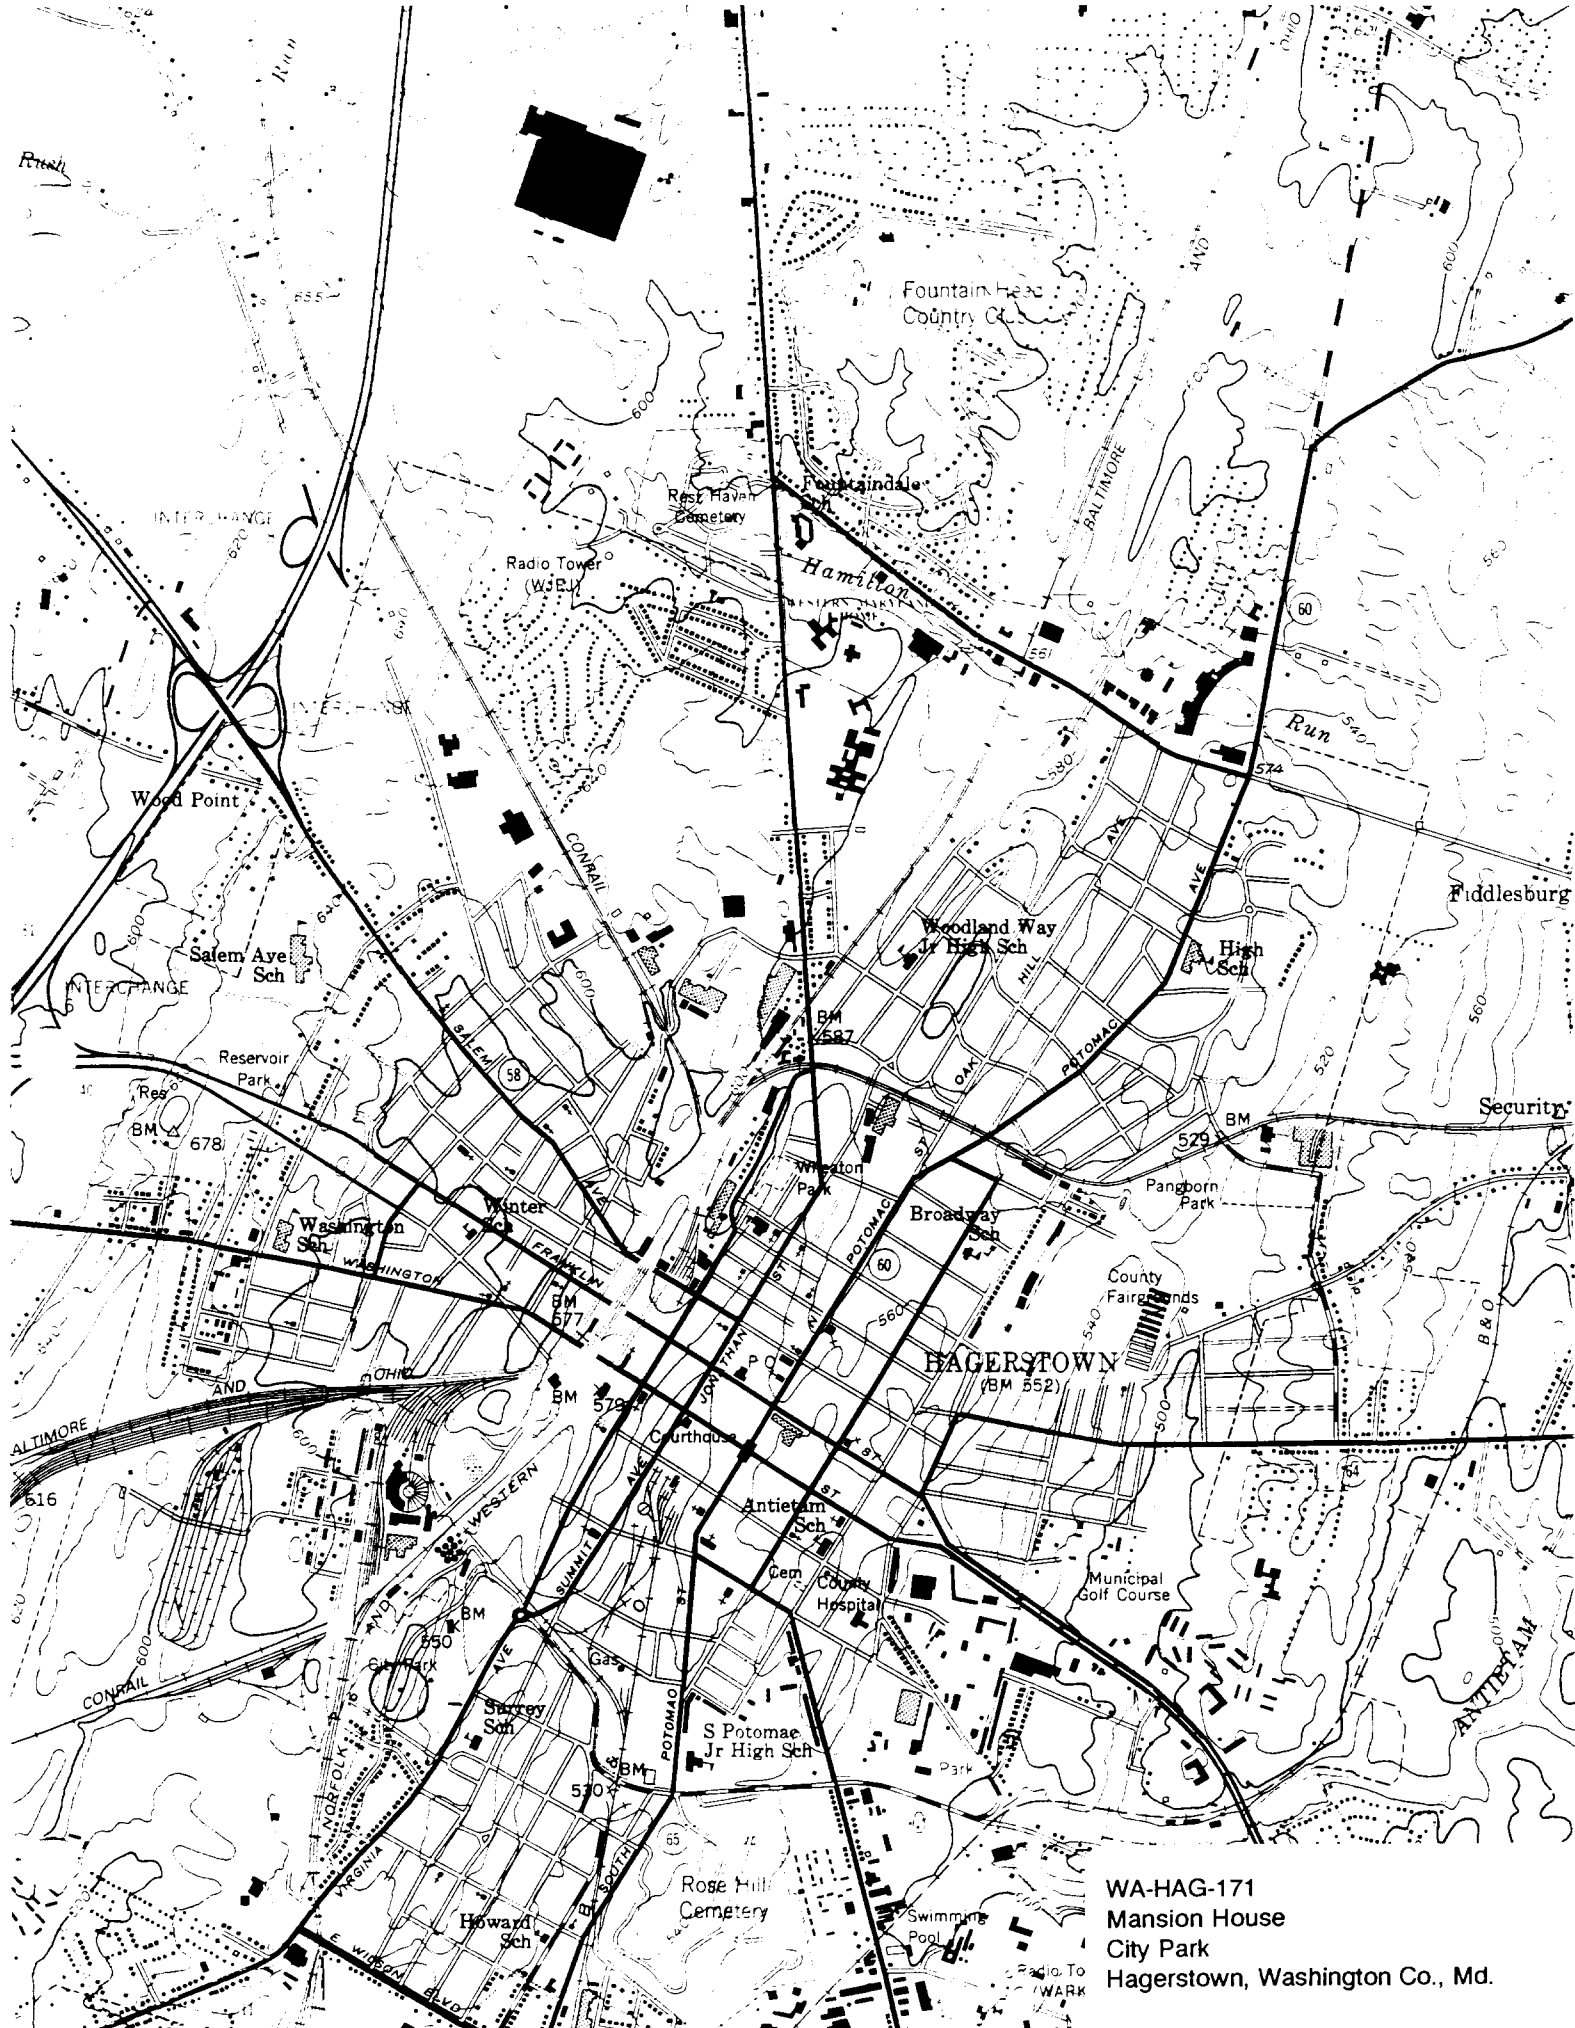

Property Name/Address: Mansion House, City Park, Hagerstown, Maryland

Description/Significance: A large two story, three bay, hip roofed brick house, constructed ca. 1843-46. Its temple form with projecting wing, and its decorative detailing, reflect a relatively academic interpretation of the Greek Revival style which is noteworthy in the context of Hagerstown's domestic architecture. A vaulted stone cellar, traditionally believed to have been used for the storage of wine, is located to the north of the building; it has an arched entrance with a datestone reading "built 1870 by John H. Heyser."
